

NEW DEED FOR WATER ACCEPTED

Salt Lake's Rights in Exchange With Power Company Protected.

CITY ATTORNEY APPROVES

GRANTOR MUST DEFEND ALL ACTIONS AGAINST TITLE.

New deeds to the Big Cottonwood property were presented to the city council at its meeting last night and were approved by unanimous vote, with Councilmen E. H. Davis and C. M. Neuhausen absent.

The clause in the former deed from the Utah Light & Railway company, which objection was made is replaced by the following clause:

"To have and to hold the above and foregoing described premises and property unto the said city, together with the appurtenances, and the said railway company hereby covenants and agrees that in consideration of the premises it will forever warrant and defend the title to said premises with the easements and servitudes referred to above, against all persons lawfully claiming or to claim the same."

This clause had the approval of City Attorney C. C. Day, who stated to the council that the new deeds complied with the terms of the franchise ordinance.

Accepted by Resolution.

The new deeds were accepted in the following resolution, drawn by Judge Day and introduced by Councilman Wells:

"That the deeds from the Utah Light & Railway company and the Utah Power company, approved by resolution of Sept. 11, 1905, be and the same are hereby withdrawn and approval thereof revoked, and in lieu thereof the deed from the Utah Light & Railway company herewith presented be approved and ordered to be filed and recorded, and that the form of deed herewith presented to be executed by the Utah Power company upon its execution be filed, accepted and recorded."

"That said deeds be filed as of the date said deeds were withdrawn, and that said deeds be substituted for said former deeds."

Councilman Hobday withdrew his resolution on the same subject and the new resolution was passed without a dissenting vote.

City Recorder J. S. Critchlow presented the list of polling places secured by him. The list was approved and the recorder was authorized to make any changes that may be necessary.

He was also empowered to fill vacancies in the list of election judges, the selections to be made after consultation with the city chairman of the party to which the missing officer belonged.

LORADO TAFT AT Y. M. C. A.

Noted Chicago Sculptor Will Give Audience Glimpse of an Artist's Studio.

Lorado Taft, sculptor and artist, who will be seen at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium Monday evening, Nov. 6, and who composes the second number on the Y. M. C. A. star entertainment course, comes directly from the Chicago Art Institute. Mr. Taft gives his audience a glimpse of an artist's studio.

His sculpture includes the statue of Schuyler Colfax at Indianapolis, General Grant at Fort Leavenworth and figures on various military monuments throughout the country. He has modeled busts of many eminent writers and educators of this country. Mr. Taft is an eloquent and fascinating speaker, and his talk on art will be of great benefit to art-loving people. As he is one of the best known sculptors of the country, and one more capable of learnedly reviewing art subjects, to miss seeing and hearing him would be to miss a treat.

FURTHER ATTACK ON GREEN

River Is Asked to Supply Six More Second-Foot—Government Canal Will Be Used.

Henry Neville of American Fork made application yesterday in the state engineer's office for the appropriation of three second-feet of water to be taken from the Green river system in Wasatch county. The diverting channel will be constructed 14,000 feet in length and 160 acres are to be irrigated under the plan.

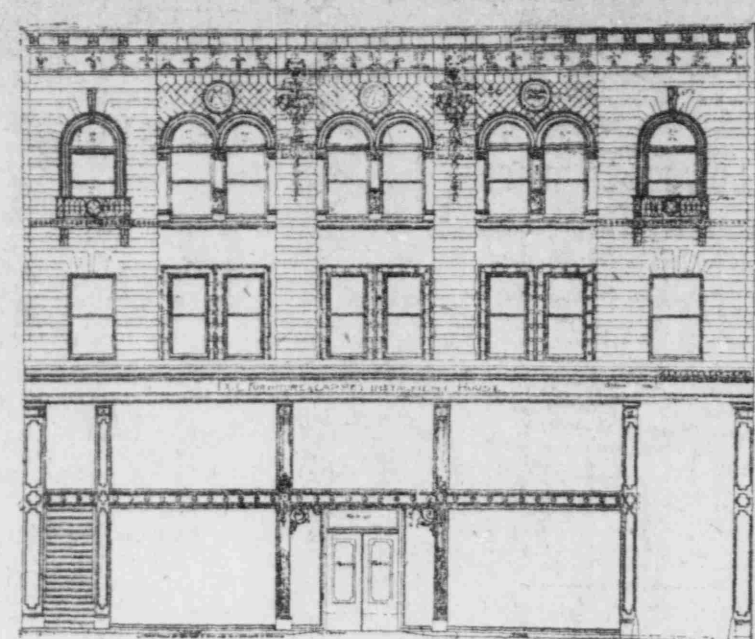

G. T. McNease of Myton, Utah, also applied for three second-feet of water to be appropriated from the Green river system in Utah county. An old government canal will be used to carry the water and eighty acres of land are to be irrigated.

MOTHER AND CHILD.

Let the mother take Scott's Emulsion for the two; it never fails to benefit them both. One can eat for two, but nourishing two is a different thing. It calls for a degree of internal strength that the average woman lacks. People of luxury are not very strong by habit; overworked people are weak in some functions from exhaustion or their surroundings. Scott's Emulsion can be depended upon to overcome such conditions. It is a wonderful food for a mother and child.

SCOTT & BOWNE, 490 Pearl Street, New York.

FINE NEW BUSINESS BLOCK FOR THIRD SOUTH.

The three-story building to be erected by the L. X. L. Furniture company on the site of the Auditorium rooming house, Third South street between Main and State streets, will be one of the finest business structures in Salt Lake City, according to statements made by the firm of Erskine & Liljenberg, the architects who made the plans. This statement is borne out in every way by the accompanying cut of the front elevation. The cost is to be $80,000, and the time of completion early next spring. The dimensions are 65 feet front by 272 feet deep, by 56 feet high. An important feature of the plan is that they provide for the building of two additional stories whenever the owner of the property may see fit to enlarge. This is one of the reasons for the seemingly high cost of the building, although not the only one, for the exterior of the building is to be of unusual beauty.

The front will be of glazed brick and terra cotta in imitation of this city, with ornate finish in metalwork. Plate glass windows will extend within a few inches of the sidewalk, giving splendid opportunities for display.

The interior will be of maple, and there will be a balcony extending around the entire first floor. Modern ideas in wiring and heating will be carried out.

The entire first floor will be occupied by the furniture concern, while the second floor will be left for offices. It is not improbable that the third floor will be used for a similar purpose.

The new structure will be equipped with freight and passenger elevators. The Auditorium is to be torn down at once and within two weeks building operations will likely begin.

Many Building Homes.

In addition to the large job above, plans for many residences throughout the city have been made by Erskine & Liljenberg.

Among those either under way or nearing completion are the following:

$10,000 ten-room house at First South and Eighth East streets, for E. L. Burton.

$8,000 terrace of two houses on Second South between Fifth and Sixth East streets, for Mrs. Charles W. Watson.

$7,000 terrace of two houses on Fifth East between First and Second South streets, for Mrs. Watson.

$5,000 house at Waterloo for Bishop Woodruff.

$5,000 house on Third street between L and M streets, for George H. Smith.

$4,000 house on State street north of Lafayette school, for W. B. Douglas, Jr.

In addition to the above Mr. Erskine cites numerous instances of small home building. He agrees with the statement that Salt Lake is and has been enjoying a period of great building activity.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Park City Solons Meet in Regular Monthly Session.

Park City, Nov. 2.—Park City council met last evening at the city hall and transacted the general business of the month. After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting the bills against the city were taken up as per vouchers shown as follows:

Pay roll city officers, $177.00

Pay roll police department, $20.00

Pay roll fire department, $20.00

Pay roll streets, alleys and bridges, $150.00

Total, $367.00

Miscellaneous, $25.00

These bills receiving the "O. K." of the various committees through whom they were contracted were ordered paid.

The report of officers was the next in the order of business and the reports of the various officers were submitted.

IMPRISONED IN FROZEN ARCTIC

Greater Part of Whaling Fleet in Serious Position.

WOMEN ON BOARD SHIPS

TALK OF GOVERNMENT RELIEF EXPEDITION.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—The whaling vessels Monterey and Alice Knowles arrived here today from Hakodate, Japan. They confirm the news that the greater part of the Arctic whaling fleet has been caught in the ice and that the imprisoned men will probably suffer for want of provisions.

From the schooner Monterey comes the first direct news of the San Francisco fleet now ice-bound in the waters of the Arctic. Captain Charles H. Foley of this vessel believes that the ships are in a very serious condition and may have to be abandoned altogether before the ice breaks up next summer.

Saw Them Aug. 10.

Captain Foley reports that he saw all of the ships of the fleet on Aug. 10. At that time they were all together, near Bailey island, which is about 600 miles from the farthest point on the American continent. If the whalers remain together he believes that the crews will not suffer as much as if they were separated, as some of the boats are provisioned for two years and can share their supplies with their companions.

The captain says that he thinks the ships may have to be abandoned before the winter is over and the crews will be forced to rely upon reindeer and sleds to get to points of safety. Fortunately, he believes that the natives in the region where the ships are imprisoned are friendly and will do anything they can to alleviate the sufferings of the white sailors.

Have Women Aboard.

Captain Cook of the Bowhead and Captain McGregor of the Karack have their wives with them, and Captain Foley says that these women will probably suffer more than the men. Both of the women have been in the Arctic two years and are poorly supplied to withstand another winter there. The Karack and Bowhead intended to leave shortly after Captain Foley, but their path was blocked by the ice. The supplies which Captain Foley gave them will not last long if they become separated from the other ships.

The Monterey barely got out of the north in time and had to ply her way homeward through a narrow stream which was left in the ice.

Captain Foley says that the government should make an effort to reach the imprisoned sailors. It is a question, though, he says, if they can be reached by reindeer, although he believes that such an effort should be made.

Received from police court, $40.00

Sexton, $20.00

Wright and measure, $4.00

E. Ward, $10.00

Ontario tallies, $6.55

Total, $107.55

Warrants drawn in October, $220.11

Overdraft, $22.75

The report of the recorder agreed in every particular with the exception of $7.39 in outstanding warrants.

The committee on streets and bridges reported that they had visited the various streets to which claims for damages were referring and reported that action be taken.

The committee having the fire department improvements in hand asked that it be allowed to have further time in which to make more thorough investigation. Time was allowed them.

The marshal reported the following places as the sites for election polling places: Ward No. 1, precinct 1, No. 2629 Park avenue (Gilbert house); ward No. 1, precinct 2, Union Pacific depot; ward No. 2, precinct 1, city hall; ward No. 2, precinct 2, No. 35 Main street (Paine office); ward No. 3, precinct 1, No. 117 Main (McFalls house); ward No. 3, precinct 2, No. 125 Main.

Nothing further coming before the council, a motion to adjourn carried, and the next meeting will be held on the 10th.

The civil service examination which has been held in Park City for the office of range riders and rangers has not yet been concluded today. There were only four who took the test, and most of these were from the lower counties of the state.

From the reports given out the examination was a stiff one and went into a man's knowledge of everything in the range line pretty thoroughly.

The body of J. E. Gemmill, the man who killed himself on Saturday, has not yet been buried, pending instructions from the city, which the dead man has relatives.

FOUNDERS DAY IS CELEBRATED

Carnegie Honored by Institute Which Bears His Name.

ADDRESS BY GEN. GREELY

SECRETARY'S REPORT AND THE AWARD OF MEDALS.

Pittsburg, Nov. 2.—The tenth annual celebration of Founders' days in honor of Andrew Carnegie, founder of the institute, was brilliantly observed at Carnegie institute this afternoon as in former years. General A. W. Greely, commander of the United States signal corps, and Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, were the guests of honor and delivered the principal addresses. Carnegie Music hall was crowded and the exercises were enjoyed by a representative Pittsburg audience.

General Greely's Address.

President W. N. Frew made a short opening address and introduced General A. W. Greely. General Greely, whose subject was "Geographical Exploration; Its Moral and Material Results," said the noblest object of geographical research is the extension of civilization and to spread the beneficial results gained by the enlightened nations. The extension of trade routes through Central Asia, he said, was the greatest achievement of modern explorers, and that this fact would do more to advance the civilization of that country than centuries of missionary work.

The speaker then went into details of his voyage in search of the North Pole. He told of the hardships and privations of himself and his men, and said that nature in the north seemed to take better care of men than in the tropics.

Secretary's Report.

Secretary Samuel H. Church read a letter received from Andrew Carnegie, the founder, who expressed himself as being well pleased with the way the work of the Carnegie institute is progressing.

Secretary Church read his annual report with statistics showing that 153 branches and agencies of the library are in operation. He promised that the new building would be completed in good time for the Founder's day celebration next year, and costing for construction alone about $8,000,000; that the Carnegie institute should then take rank, in its architecture and high purpose, with the noblest institutions in the world. He said that the Carnegie technical schools, which a year ago had no existence, were now in partial operation with a day class of 120 young men, who won their entrance in a severe competition of 1,723 applicants, and that the night school would soon start with a larger class during the present month.

Following with Mr. Church's report was an address by Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press on "How the World's News is Gathered." His address was one of exceptional interest to the audience.

Awards Made.

At the close of the programme the following awards were announced in the annual art competition:

First award (gold medal and prize of $1,500) for picture entitled "Evening in a Studio."

Second award (silver medal and prize of $1,000) Edward W. Redfield, for picture entitled "The Coast."

Third award (bronze medal and prize of $500) Childs Hassam for picture entitled "June."

Honorable mention awards were given the following: William J. Clackens, for picture entitled "At Mouquins."

John Sloan, for picture entitled "The Coffee Line."

Charles N. Woodbury, for picture entitled "Winter."

The opening concert of the eleventh season of the Pittsburgh Orchestra society was a distinct social and artistic success.

Foreigner—Yes; I can't stand your summer weather. And if you told there is an Indian summer still to come. That must be what you call something fierce.

AWFUL PSORIASIS 35 YEARS

Terrible Scaly Humor in Patches All Over the Body—Skin Cracked and Bleeding—Itching Unbearable—Cured by Cuticura in Thirty Days at Cost of $4.75.

ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE BY CUTICURA

"I was afflicted with psoriasis for thirty-five years. It was in patches all over my body. I used three cakes of Soap, six boxes of Cuticura Ointment, and two bottles of Cuticura Resolvent. I bathed with the Soap, applied the Ointment once a day, and took the Resolvent as directed. In thirty days I was completely cured, and I think permanently, as it was about five years ago."

"The psoriasis first made its appearance in red spots, generally forming a circle, leaving in the center a spot about the size of a silver dollar of sound flesh. In a short time the affected circle would form a heavy dry scale of a white silvery appearance and would gradually drop off. To remove the entire scales by bathing or using oil to soften them the flesh would be perfectly raw, and a light discharge of bloody substance would ooze out. That scaly crust would form again in twenty-four hours. It was worse on my arms and limbs, although it was in spots all over my body, also on my scalp. If I let the scales remain too long without removing by bath or otherwise, the skin would crack and bleed. I suffered intense itching, worse at night after getting warm in bed, or blood warm by exercise, when it would be almost unbearable."

"To sum it all up, I would not go through such another ordeal of affliction for thirty-five years for the State of Kansas." (Signed) W. M. Childster, Hutchinson, Kan., April 20, 1905.
